

Exporting references from Google Scholar® to EndNote®

The 'import to EndNote links' can be activated:

- Before performing a search
- After a search has been completed, in the search result pages
- by clicking the 'Cite' link below each reference, in the search result pages

Before performing a search
